☒ Continuation Sheet Attached

Brief Description of Arguments to be Presented:

- The claims of the instant application call for "a solicitation," "a set of users" and "an offer." No interpretation, construction, combination or permutation of the cited prior art teaches all three of these separate and distinct claim elements.
- The claims of the instant application call for "a solicitation with ... a universal resource locator (URL)," "accessing a web site through the URL" and "entering the offer code via the accessed web site". No interpretation, construction, combination or permutation of the cited prior art teaches all three of these separate and distinct claim elements with all the limitations specifically recited in the claims.
- The claims of the instant application call for "a host web site including a prompt," "an offer code ... included in a solicitation," "receiving the offer code at the prompt" and a "set of unique offers". No interpretation, construction, combination or permutation of the cited prior art teaches all three of these separate and distinct claim elements with all the limitations specifically recited in the claims.
